

Abstract of the Disclosure:

A computer has a case with a front side that is clad with a front panel. The front panel includes openings beside the mounting spaces for receiving PC components with attached
5 retaining bars. The PC components can be inserted into the computer by way of the front side without having to disassemble the front panel.

10

MPW/nt